Trauma, drive and disorder: The development of a psychodynamic model of substance abuse - preliminary findings

Fuchshuber, J.^{1,2}, Hiebler-Ragger, M.^{1,2}, Ragger, K.^{1,2}, Kresse, A.¹, Kapfhammer, H.P.¹, & Unterrainer, H.J.^{1,2}
Corresponding author: J. Fuchshuber (juergen.fuchshuber@uni-graz.at)

Background
In the present study, we intended to examine the role of psychodynamic determinants in the genesis of substance use disorders (SUD) and substance abuse (SA). Therefore, a neuro-psychodynamically informed model was developed. As a theoretical basis [1,2], traumatic experiences, primary emotions, personality organization, attachment, and existential well-being as a higher emotion were taken into account as potential predictors for the developmental process of an addictive disease. Moreover, these "ingredients" were assumed to interact with, and to build up on, one another. Therefore, deficits within this interdependent structure are possibly initiated by traumatic childhood experiences that lead to dysfunctional mechanisms in development with special regard to attachment, affect disposition and emotional regulation. On an empirical level, we hypothesize a nested hierarchy between the factors "primary affects" (PA), the mostly secondary processes "personality organization and personality structure" and "attachment", as well as "existential well-being" as an example of tertiary process. To test this hypothesis, structural equation modeling is employed on an extensive non-clinical sample.

Methods
A total sample of 410 (56% female) student participants completed:
• the Affective Neuroscience Personality Scale (primary emotions) [3],
• the GPD-structure questionnaire [4],
• the Adult Attachment Scale [5],
• the Inventory of Personality Organization [6],
• the Multidimensional Inventory of Religious/Spiritual Well-Being (short version) [7],
• the Brief Symptom Inventory [8],
• the Alcohol, Smoking and Substance Involvement Screening Test [9] and
• the Childhood Trauma Questionnaire [10] via Limesurvey

Results
Correlation analyses predominantly confirmed the expected connections between SA and the psychodynamic variables (see Table 3). The standardized solution for the final structural equation model, including the latent variables negative PA, ego deficit, childhood trauma, GSI and SA is presented in Figure 1. The model exhibited an acceptable fit: RMSEA = .083; CFI = .91. Childhood trauma significantly predicted GSI, ego-deficit and negative primary affects (all $p < .001$). Ego-deficit predicted SA, GSI and showed a significant covariance with negative PA (all $p < .001$). Furthermore negative PA predicted GSI ($p < .001$). GSI showed a significant covariance with SA ($p < .001$). Moreover we found male sex to be a significant predictor for SA ($p < .001$). Thereby structural equation modelling is suggestive of a solution without a positive PA factor and higher emotions. In this model overall 33% of the variance in SA and 78% in GSI can be explained.

Conclusion
Our preliminary findings confirm the hypothesis of an interdependent mental apparatus, composed of basic emotions and secondary processes like personality structure and attachment dimensions, which plays a significant part in the development of SA and overall psychiatric symptoms. Furthermore we found that childhood trauma impacts the development of psychiatric symptoms in adulthood and have relevant effects on the formation of primary processes and its corresponding defence mechanisms.

RELATED: 8 Easy Budgeting Tips Every Parent Needs The typical wait time between filing and receiving your refund is around 3 weeks if you e-file and at least 6 weeks if you mail a paper return. Employers and other entities were required to provide W-2s and other tax forms, like 1099-MISC and W-3, by January 31. Photo Courtesy: Raymond Boyd/Michael Ochs Archives/Getty Images 2020 Nissan Armada Moving up to the large SUV category, the Nissan Armada provides the perfect entry level vehicle for those moving beyond midsize to get their hands on more space. If you don't think you can file by the cutoff day, which has been moved to July 15, you can file for an extension. Photo Courtesy: Raymond Boyd/Michael Ochs Archives/Getty Images MORE FROM QUESTIONSANSWERED.NET The U.S. Treasury Secretary moved the IRS deadline to July 15—instead of the usual deadline of April 15—because of the spread of the coronavirus (COVID-19). Additionally, if you and your family enjoy boating or camping, this SUV has all the power you need — and a helpful trailer hitch — to make towing a breeze. The service provided by the IRS doesn't offer any tax guidance and you must know how to do your taxes yourself; the program only does the math. Photo Courtesy: Mazda.com 2020 Ford Edge Although the Ford Edge only seats up to five people (no third row option), it's classified as a mid-size SUV for its otherwise roomy interior. Although minivans still hold a special place in the hearts of some drivers, many modern parents have refocused their attention on roomy SUVs to get the space they need for their kids and all their gear — but with a heftier dose of style to appease their own tastes. Skip to content When you're ready to shop for a new family vehicle, SUVs are popular choices, especially when they combine the space of a minivan with the comfort and style of a luxury sedan. Even passengers sitting in the third row tend to find this roomy SUV to be quite comfortable. It seats eight people but doesn't provide quite as much third row legroom as other full-size SUVs, but it boasts more than enough room for average size families. According to George Birrell, CPA, founder of virtual tax service Taxhub, anyone can file for an extension. Even better, the Honda Sensing safety suite — a group of alert systems designed to improve driver safety — comes standard on the 2020 models. The IRS recommends e-filing and opting for direct deposit for security reasons. Taxpayers can file their taxes before July 15 without any interest or penalties, according to The Washington Post. The penalty for not paying your taxes on time is 0.5 percent of your unpaid tax per month until payment is made. Simply download the IRS form 4868 and mail it in before the deadline. The sleek vehicle may look small on the outside, but it's roomier than expected on the inside, with seating for five people and ample cargo room for hauling groceries, strollers and more. The comfy SUV includes a rear USB port for charging devices to ensure your kids never run out of juice on long road trips. Photo Courtesy: Daniel Acker/Bloomberg/Getty Images Remember when minivans were the must-have vehicles of families across America? The manufacturer's iACTivense suite of safety features now come standard on every vehicle as well. RELATED: The Price of Parenthood: An Exclusive Family Finances Survey The IRS processes returns on a first come, first served basis, so early filers may have a shorter wait than those who wait until the last minute to check taxes off their to-do lists. The smaller size allows for smooth handling that grips the road like a sedan, but you still have plenty of cargo space for transporting common items like groceries, luggage and sports equipment. Powered by a twin-turbocharged 3.5-liter V6 engine, it has all the power you need to tackle any kind of road trip as well as all the cargo space necessary to store all your luggage. If you have all your documents and plan to e-file, the earliest date to file was January 27. Besides good fuel economy, it provides many features that normally cost extra, such as heated seats, as standard equipment. Safety features include Brake Assist, Cross Traffic Alert and Lane Departure Warning. Interest and late payment penalties accrue every month until your tax bill is paid in full. If you choose to have your refund direct-deposited into your bank account, you can shave a few days off of that time. Photo Courtesy: Raymond Boyd/Michael Ochs Archives/Getty Images 2020 Honda Pilot The spacious overall size of the Honda Pilot makes it a popular choice for those transporting teenagers or other adults — seven to eight total — although fully loaded models can stretch some families' budgets to the breaking point. Photo Courtesy: Honda.com 2020 Toyota Highlander Families keep choosing the Toyota Highlander for very good reasons, and the fully redesigned 2020 model doesn't let them down. 2020 Mazda CX-5 Thanks to premium interior styling, the Mazda CX-5 feels like a luxury sedan in a compact SUV body. Photo Courtesy: Chevrolet.com 2020 Toyota Sequoia If you want plenty of family-friendly features, the Toyota Sequoia is for you. Whether you need a third row seat to accommodate a growing family or a large cargo area for all that soccer gear, you can find the right SUV for the job. As a full-size SUV with plenty of space to accommodate up to eight passengers, the Tahoe is an ideal choice for large families who do a lot of driving. Other options include a rear entertainment system and rear heated seats for extra soothing comfort on those long trips. If you don't file for an extension, your taxes must be filed by July 15 (instead of the usual April 15). "The IRS assesses two penalties for not filing: The failure-to-file and the failure-to-pay penalties. Built-in safety features include Brake Assist and Traction Control. Photo Courtesy: Ford.com 2020 Chevrolet Tahoe If you want to keep everyone entertained on the road, the Chevrolet Tahoe has a premium, user-friendly entertainment system that can help. Seating in this model accommodates six to seven people, depending on the interior features selected. With ample second- and third-row legroom, the passenger space in the Expedition is among the best on the market. Here's a look at some of the top SUV models for families in 2020. The cargo space in the Honda Pilot provides plenty of storage space in the rear, while storage cubbies and a bin below the main armrest help out passengers during the ride. E-filing provides a quicker processing time than old-fashioned snail mail filing, so if you're anxious for your refund, go for the modern option. The mid-size SUV is stylish, comfortable and reliable, with features like keyless start and heated mirrors provided as standard equipment. With a 9.8 J.D. Power safety rating, this SUV is one you can drive with confidence. Whether you like to get them taken care of early or wait until the last minute before filing, there's no escaping the taxman. Photo Courtesy: Sjoerd van der Wal/Getty Images News/Getty Images 2020 Mazda CX-9 If you're in the market for a mid-size SUV but still budget conscious, the Mazda CX-9 with its fuel-efficient engine might be the right choice for your family. Photo Courtesy: Nissan.com 2020 Ford Expedition One of the largest SUVs on the road, the Ford Expedition features interior accents and perks that immediately distinguish it from other full-size SUVs on the market. Keeping your family's safety in mind, Toyota includes its trademark Safety Sense, which includes Lane Departure Warning, Traction Control and Brake Assist, in every vehicle as well. Other amenities include Co-Pilot360 Driver Assist technology for maximum safety and control on the road. But whether you're dreading the tax bill you know is coming or looking forward to a sizable refund, you might be confused about the process. If you're new to filing your taxes or just want to brush up on the basics, here are answers to some of the most common family tax season questions. In fact, the list of standard features on the Edge is impressively long and includes dual-zone climate control, remote engine start, rear parking aid and rain sensing wipers. You should have all the required documents by now, since employers and other entities are required to send tax documents on or before January 31. If you owe money, you pay your tax bill when you file or set up a payment plan with the IRS to pay in installments. Filing for extension only gets you out of the failure-to-file penalty," explains Birrell. Even if you filed your return in mid-January, it wouldn't have been processed until January 27, the day the IRS began processing. There is minimal risk of identity theft or theft of your refund if everything is handled electronically. Photo Courtesy: Sjoerd van der Wal/Getty Images News/Getty Images 2020 Honda CR-V If you want a compact SUV to save on fuel costs, you can't go wrong with the Honda CR-V. The sporty yet practical SUV comes in all-wheel drive and four-wheel drive models and comfortably seats up to five people. It comes in slightly larger than the CR-V and has a stylish appeal that is reminiscent of a luxury vehicle. The fuel economy is an impressive 27-28 mpg in the city and 32-34 mpg on the highway. To e-file, you can use the IRS free filing service or any number of online tax prep services (like those offered by H&R Block or TurboTax). "It is important to remember that you can still get served the failure-to-pay penalty unless you have prepaid your taxes due equal to 90 percent of current years or 100 percent of prior year's total tax liability." The penalty for not filing your taxes on time is 5 percent of your tax bill per month until you send your return.
